

French Roulette

Description

French Roulette represents the variation of the roulette game that originates from the 18th century and became popular after the French Revolution. Roulette can be translated as a little wheel and even if it looks simple, it is a very entertaining gambling activity with a great winning potential. French roulette is different from other roulette games as it features quite specific table layout. It is most frequently played in Monte Carlo casinos.

The game features a ball, a wheel and numbers colored black and red and marked from 1 to 36. There is also one green slot numbered 0. Such variation of roulette featuring only one zero pocket (as opposed to the American variant with 0 and 00) lowers the house's advantage. A player can bet on any single number or the range or numbers, odd or even, black, red or green.

French roulette also features such an option as la partage. It presupposes the return of even-money bets in their half amount in case the winning number is 0. The layout of a playing table is in French and there is one more option call bets that differentiates this game from other roulette games.

RTP is 97.3%.

Objective

The idea of the game is in the correct prediction of the slot where the ball will land after the wheel stops spinning. By making a right guess of the number, the color and in accordance with the type of your bet, you will get the corresponding payout.

Bet Types

French roulette has got 3 rows and 12 columns of numbers with 0 at the very top of the number field. Bets are distinguished as inside and outside ones in accordance to the area on the table they are placed.

Inside Bets		Payout
Straight	The bet covers only one number. Place it on an individual number as well as on 0	35:1
Split	This bet covers 2 numbers. You can place your bet on the two numbers that adjoin each other either horizontally or vertically. Place the bet on the dividing line between the two numbers. You will get your win from one of the 2 numbers you put your bet on	17:1
Street	Place your bet on the one external right line that refers to the 3 numbers you bet on. The bet covers 3 numbers that go in a sequence	11:1
Trio	This bet covers 3 numbers. You can bet on the following groups: 0, 1 and 2 or 0, 2 and 3. If you choose this option, place a bet on the exact point of the intersection of the aforementioned numbers	11:1
Corner	This bet covers any 4 numbers that form a square layout. Place the bet on the intersecting point of these numbers	8:1
Six Line	This bet covers 6 numbers. You can place your bet on two adjoining streets. In this case place your bet on the intersecting line of these 2 columns	5:1

Outside Bets

		Payout
Column bet	This bet covers 12 numbers. You can bet on 12 numbers in any of the 3 lines in the horizontal layout (columns). Put the bet in the box that is located at the end of each column	2:1
Dozen bet	The bet is placed in one of the three boxes marked P12, M12 or D12. In case of P12 put your bet on the first group of 12 numbers: 1-12, in case of M12 – on the second group of 13-24, and when you choose D12 put a bet on the numbers from 25 to 36	2:1
Low/High	This bet covers 18 numbers. You can bet on only on the first 18 (low) or the last 18 (high) numbers. The bet is not placed on 0 as it is not considered either high or low. If 0 wins, even-money bets are returned to the players in half amount. In order to place this bet put it either in the MANQUÉ or PASSE box on the external betting area	1:1
Odd/Even	Place your bet in the box marked IMPAIR or PAIR and you will bet on any odd or even number. 0 is neither an odd nor an even number and no bets can be placed on it. Provided that 0 wins, even-money bets are returned to the players in half amount	1:1
Red/Black	Put the bet on the box with a red or a black diamond. You bet on whichever color that will come up when the wheel stops. 0 is considered neither a red nor a black number and no bets can be placed on it. If zero wins, even-money bets are returned to the players in half amount	1:1

Players can also place the bets known as annonces. They are put of a separate racetrack at the left-hand side of the table. Racetrack numbers correspond to the numbers of the wheel. The names of the bets are of French origin and for this reason are named in French. Players can choose from the standard combinations and put their bets on the corresponding sections.
